Biography:

Pherkad is Albuquerque, New Mexico's premier genre bending, groove crushing jam band. Although they will occasionally touch a semi-obscure or loved cover tune, they spend a substantial amount more time crunching out groovy and thoughtful original tunes. In fact, the band spends a substantial amount of that time traveling through deep improvisational and instrumental spaces. Extended ten minute songs are common at live Pherkad shows and epic half hour jams mashing songs into one another aren't uncommon at all either. Simply put- these dudes get down.

“Pherkad arrives from out of the dusky, dreamy realm of the jam band, combining nuanced traces of a multitude of other genres—including jazz, rock and folk—to make a rocanrol stew that is intriguing, tasteful and totally, incomparably experimental. [... T]heir output is authentically psychedelic, not “psych,” a good thing when listening to the galaxy for proof of intelligent life.”

-August March, The Alibi Weekly Newsletter, V. 27 No. 12

Named after a star in the Little Dipper constellation once believed to be one of the “Guardians of the Center of the Universe”, Pherkad now celebrates 10 years of music making and merriment. Originally a duo consisting of guitarist Jason Bowers and drumming lead-vocalist “Cheese”, Pherkad has grown into a four-piece jam band paving a path through the comfortable and familiar and well beyond into the sonic unknown. Next to join the outfit, chronologically, was talented keyboardist

Zac Ramsey, who yields both scrunch-your-face funky and jaw-droppingly beautiful melodies.

Last but not least is bassist/vocalist Chris “Chrispy” Patchett, who not only holds down the low end with deep grooves, but also showcases his songwriting talent, occasionally taking the lead on vocals.

Get ready to blast off, because Pherkad is going to take you on a jam-tastic voyage with their well composed, tasteful and downright funky blend of music.

“It's like fractals for the soul”
